As announced via this blog, SAP Cloud ALM, tenant extensions are now available for customers. This means that customers can procure as many tenants as they need.

For SAP Cloud ALM for Service, most content, including

- which services will be delivered
- what the results of these deliveries were
- what the identified actionable items were is sent into your tenant from SAP as explained in this blog. You as a customer have the option the decide for which of your customer numbers service information should be sent to which of your SAP Cloud ALM tenants (via tenant mapping).

SAP Cloud ALM, tenant extensions, are NOT available for tenant mapping. That means only standard SAP Cloud ALM tenants can receive service information from SAP.

In all SAP Cloud ALM, tenant extensions:

- The "Service Delivery Center" will not contain any data.
- The "Issues and Actions Management" app will not contain any data.

Customers using SAP Cloud ALM, tenant extensions, can only use their standard SAP Cloud ALM tenants for

"It just makes work easier and helps you to better understand the designed processes", Martina Ohlerth says. The IT engineer and product owner works at REWE digital in Germany and oversees the further development of the cloud-based tool for application lifecycle management (ALM), which is available as part of SAP support offerings, covering all stages of the application lifecycle, from discovery of cloud solution capabilities to implementation, operations, and continuous innovation as well as business value realization and enhancement.

"We wanted to preserve our investment with SAP Cloud ALM"

With more than 18 years of experience in the field, the 42-year-old has experienced digital transformation first-hand. "To date, we have already achieved a lot with SAP Solution Manager to be more transparent in application lifecycle management. We want to preserve this investment with SAP Cloud ALM.", Martina explains. "This is the main reason why we are intensively investigating SAP's new tool."

The mother of three and her small team of four colleagues that is sometimes supported by external consultants embarked on the SAP Cloud ALM journey one and a half years ago. To learn more about the strategy behind the solution, and to find out if it was the right fit for the company, Martina turned to the German SAP-user group DSAG and one of their conferences. "This helped us a lot to find out where we could be going with this", she explains.
