Executive Biography

Aaron Green
Senior Vice President and Head of SAP SuccessFactors, Asia Pacific and Japan

Aaron Green is the Senior Vice President and Head of SAP SuccessFactors, Asia Pacific and Japan. He joined SAP in 2016 and has two decades experience in People & Culture trends and technologies.

Aaron is incredibly passionate about the practice of human experience management and how organisations can deliver increased talent engagement as a lever to drive organisational outcomes. In addition to believing in the power of technology to transform workplaces, Aaron is a major proponent of a service-based approach to leadership and its potential to bring out the best in a company's people and customer experience.

Aaron is particularly proud of his work to enhance the culture at SAP ANZ's largest office, in New South Wales. A year after he began leading this initiative, SAP ANZ placed in the top 10 Great Places to Work in Australia, improving on this ranking the following year.

At a time when Asia Pacific will be at the forefront of the next wave of economic growth, Aaron is excited to help organisations deliver on their ambition in the experience economy. Aaron researches and speaks extensively on the topic of mental health in the workplace and organisational sustainability.

Prior to SAP, Aaron held senior leadership roles at Oracle over 12 years. His career spans roles at PeopleSoft, Lexmark, Logitech and Sun Microsystems, working across Australia, the US, China, Germany and Switzerland.
