How to move into action with SAP Signavio
How to make transformation stick Impact requires business user adoption on top of process/IT change

Business value
of transformation

peak promise of value

"Hypecycle" = perceived value without actionable value levers identified discover actionable potentials continuously monitor impact & detect new opportunities value diminishes

long, manual implementation drive user adoption poor change management drive (complex) IT change

Process Transformation actionable quantified transformation potential, realized through process and operational changes operationalize the promise deploy quick wins collaboratively design to-be poor transition to steady state

Further erosion of value

User frustration

Lifecycle
of transformation

"Promise" & commit

Realization quick wins

Realization of big tickets

Continuous improvement ("long tail")

A selection of SAP Signavio success stories

"To me, business transformation management means having a finger on the pulse of the company, and the ability to implement good ideas quickly."

Gottfried Koch,
Director Business Process Management, Coca-Cola European Partners

"SAP S/4HANA and SAP Signavio solutions created transparency across operational processes and systems, as well as their synergies. The solutions have shown that there is plenty of optimization potential not just in individual areas but also across departments."

Alexander Neumaier,
Project Manager BPM, Hochland SE

"Our system architecture is easily visible from within the business processes, as the solutions provide an architecture view in addition to the process view. This holistic view is important for accomplishing our SAP S/4HANA transformation."
